These two very different artists are united by a shared passion for South America, and they each lay before us their vision of the lives led by disadvantaged populations in Brazil and Peru.

Through his paintings and sculptures, Brazilian artist Souto gives us a personal testimony of life in the favelas of Rio de Janeiro.

Italian photographer Luca Bonacini will be displaying his portraits of disadvantaged children in Brazil and Peru. These works show social welfare projects run by NGOs and the United Nations bringing a smile and a ray of hope to the children they seek to help.

Please confirm your attendance by email to: documentation@etui.org. The exhibition will be open to the public between 10:00 and 16:00 every weekday from 25 February to 31 March 2010. Admission free

You are also cordially invited to attend the drinks reception the ETUI is holding to mark the first issue of Transfer, The European Review of Labour and Research, to be published by Sage Publications under a publishing agreement between the ETUI and Sage.
