SOLIDAR is overjoyed to announce the release of Dany Egreteau, a staff member of Solidarité Laïque, held hostage in Afghanistan since 3 November!

Solidarité Laïque say this on their website: "Dany Egreteau, employee of Solidarité Laïque held hostage since November 3, was released at the end of long and delicate negotiations conducted by our organisation. There was no payment of ransom. The kidnappers agreed to release the hostages because of his status as a humanitarian worker and the deterioration of his health. Solidarité Laïque pays tribute to the young Afghan who lost his life on November 3 while trying to intervene in the kidnapping of our colleague Dany Egreteau. Solidarité Laïque wishes to thank the French authorities and Afghan services, both in Paris and Kabul, for assisting in these painful circumstances."

2009 EUROPEAN ELECTIONS: POLITICAS SOCIALES PROACTIVAS

Last Monday and Tuesday, SOLIDAR participated in the Council of the Party of European Socialists in Madrid. All Social Democratic party leaders and Prime Ministers or Presidents gathered to adopt the Election Manifesto for the Socialists, to which SOLIDAR and other NGOs also contributed. The new manifesto says "Decent work must become a global objective to which all countries as well as international institutions and organisations are committed", the Socialists want to "establish a European framework for public services, guaranteeing universal and equal access for citizens" and promise "full and equal access to lifelong learning, with special attention paid to 'second-chance education and training'". ### DOHA OUTCOME NOT BOLD ENOUGH TO DEAL WITH MAGNITUDE OF CRISIS

On Tuesday, governments under the UN Financing for Development progress agreed a final Doha Outcome Document, taking stock of commitments on financing for development agreed at Monterrey in 2002, and looking forward to the future. The conference was greatly held back by the reluctance of the outgoing US administration to allow any commitments on UN involvement in the process of reforming the global financial architecture and ensuring there is a strong follow up mechanism. "It is time that decent work and gender equality took center stage in the debate on financing for development and the fact that the outcome document refers to these concepts is a step forward in this direction. At the same time, civil society and trade unions, which are development actors in their own right, must be given a voice in the process", argued Conny Reuter, the Secretary General of SOLIDAR.

SOLIDAR, together with World Solidarity participated in the ITUC delegation and engaged in advocacy and lobbying around the document with trade unions and other civil society organisations present. In addition, under the Decent Work, Decent Life umbrella we held a side event at the Civil Society Forum held prior to the conference entitled "Financing Decent Work".

GLOBAL EUROPE

SOLIDAR participated this week in a conference organised by the European Parliament Globalisation Intergroup and Friends of the Earth on the impacts of Global Europe on Sustainable development. 'Global Europe: Competing in the World' is the centerpiece of the EU's external policies, focusing on ensuring European companies have access to developing country markets and resources. It promotes a globally-oriented Europe and the expansion of the realm of "free trade" rules according to the imperative of "competitiveness". Read more...

SOCIAL AFFAIRS

HEALTH SERVICES, PATIENT RIGHTS AND PATIENT MOBILITY AT THE EP

On 2 July 2008 the European Commission adopted a proposal for a Directive on the application of patients' rights in cross-border healthcare (one of the three legislative initiatives of the social package), accompanied by a Communication on the related Community Framework. The final vote in the European Parliament is expected for April 2009, with debates currently entering into the decisive phase.

MEPs share many of the concerns expressed by SOLIDAR. This became clear in a meeting organised by the PES Group to inform on key issues currently debated in EP Committees to discuss how best to coordinate work inside and outside of the EP. Participants also exchanged on strategies for raising awareness on the issues at stake in the context of the EP electoral campaign in the first half of 2009, as well as on activities to mobilise trade unions and civil society organisations around the issue of accessible and affordable health services. ### SOLIDAR PRESIDENT URGES MEPS TO VOTE AGAINST REVISED EU WORKING TIME DIRECTIVE

On 16 December 2008 Members of European Parliament will discuss and vote on the revised working time directive. This directive rules a maximum of 48 working hours per week, but a number of important exceptions gained by Member States could allow them to extend this to 78 hours per week!

In his capacity as President of SOLIDAR, Josef Weidenholzer, President of Volkshilfe Österreich, stated that "I absolutely cannot understand why the EU Commission and the EU Labour Ministers have interpreted the sign of the times so wrong". He argued that in a period of growing unemployment, this would imply "giving a wrong political signal in view of economic policies". Josef Weidenholzer warned that "the fear of losing their jobs will make people accept unhealthy or indecent working conditions. We need a fair distribution of jobs, and healthy and motivated staff". Read more...

MEMBERS NEWS

SOLIDAR Italian member, ISCOS-Cisl, is holding the final conference of its project on the role of women from Eastern Europe in the range of trade unions organisations on the 24 October in Istanbul.

The project named "Improving Gender mainstreaming within Trade Union Organisations in Bulgaria, Romania and Turkey" aimed to support trade unions to create a debate about equal opportunities for women inside their organisations, so as to facilitate concrete actions within this sector. The focus was on two different levels: on the one hand, the exchange of good practices about bargaining on both national and territorial level, on the other, the political view towards the presence of women in trade unions. Activities took place in three seminars where representatives from partner organisations worked out action plans to implement within the frame and to support gender policy. ISCOS then created guidelines to support partner organisations in the process of gender policy.< /P>

Partners involved in the project were CITUB from Bulgaria, Cartel Alfa, CSDR, BNS, Fratia from Romania and DISK, KESK, HAK-Is, TURK- IS, CNI from Turkey.
