Editorial by Conny Reuter

Dream it, dare it, do it!

Next week the European Council will meet again in Brussels. The agenda of the meeting not only includes security and defense issues, but also the completion of the social dimension of the Economic and Monetary Union. At the end of this year, the fifth year of crisis, social standards in Europe are getting worse, as the Annual Growth Survey 2014 showed. The tendencies have not been inverted, with unemployment - in particular long term and youth unemployment - poverty and social exclusion consistently increasing.

At the same time, we cannot forget that people are dying in an attempt to reach this side of the rich continent called Europe. In countries like Tunisia and Egypt, they fear for the progress of the ideals of the "Arabellion", whereas in Ukraine, people are suffering from police violence with the EU flag in their hands. Human rights and freedom of association are still under threat all over the world. Read more...

100 Years of Willy Brandt

Next week (18 December) Willy Brandt would have been 100 years old (See the video by S&D group). Willy Brandt was a supporter of SOLIDAR's predecessor International Workers Aid, and a supporter of the idea of a united Europe. It is worth reading his speeches again and to defend his ideas, in particular when it comes to the future of Europe and the Union. Read more...

Social Affairs

Posting of Workers Directive: More Needed to Ensure Fair and Equal Working Conditions for Workers

On Monday, the EU's Council of Employment and Social Policy Ministers issued a proposal for a Directive on the enforcement of the posting of workers. For SOLIDAR, although some progress has been made in terms of clarity, this text still does not provide enough legal certainty and safety for workers posted to another country.

Two major advances were made in the proposed Directive on the documents required from companies in case of an inspection and that the Directive also protects posted workers rights, as well as national workers who will not suffer from unfair competition. SOLIDAR however remains critical as not only does this proposal put at stake article 9 of the EU Treaty on equality of EU citizens but also leaves interpretation open for companies to abuse wages and social dumping in Europe. We demand an effective general contractor liability in all EU countries, clear rules to protect posted workers against sham assignments and a right to advice and support. In addition, the possibilities for Member States to put in place whatever control mechanisms they think necessary to protect workers' rights must be expanded. Read more...

Launch of Network of Social Service Providers in Western Balkans

On 9-10 December, the regional network meeting “Promoting active inclusion and social cohesion in Western Balkan” organised by ASB South East Europe, Social Inclusion and Poverty Unit Serbia, the Foundation for European Progressive Studies (FEPS) and SOLIDAR took place in Belgrade, bringing together 50 social service providers. During the meeting, the baseline study “Comparative Analysis of the Role of Civil Society in Providing Social Welfare Services in the Western Balkans” was presented and a new network of social service providers in the region was launched.

The study was created as part of the project “Improving the Provision of Social Service Delivery in South East Europe through the Empowerment of National and Regional CSO Networks” funded by the European Commission’s Instrument for Pre-accession Assistance (IPA). It presents the legal and institutional framework for the provision of social welfare services by non-governmental organisations (NGOs) and the role of the NGOs in providing social welfare services in Bosnia and Herzegovina, Montenegro, Croatia, Kosovo and Serbia. ## International Cooperation

Civil Society Groups Condemn Attacks on Fundamental Freedoms in Egypt

The Arab NGO Network for Development (ANND), CIVICUS - the global civil society alliance and SOLIDAR strongly condemn attacks on fundamental freedoms in Egypt. Rising restrictions on public debate have imperiled the aspirations for justice and freedom which underpinned the Egyptian revolution. We are deeply concerned about the enactment of the “Law on the Right to Public Meetings, Processions and Peaceful Demonstrations (Law 107 of 2013)” which was approved by Interim President Adly Mansour on November 24.

This highly restrictive law violates well established international human rights law standards and places arbitrary limitations on the right to peaceful assembly. Its provisions give security officials excessive and discretionary powers to clamp down on public demonstrations and on the right to protest peacefully under the garb of protecting “security and peace”. ### Congratulations: 50 Years of FOS and Solidarité Socialiste - Partnerships for Social Protection in North and South

Lifelong Learning

EU: More Social Dimension

This week SOLIDAR participated in the networking meeting and conference with EU and Greek social NGOs on the eve of the Greek EU Presidency, in the presence of the Greek Minister of Labour, Social Security and Welfare. Discussions focused on the social dimension of the presidency priorities. In times of economic hardship, as witnessed in Greece, it is important to adopt long-term strategies to invest in education and training, and strengthen evidence-based policy making both on Member State and EU levels, with the engagement of civil society organisations in the framework of strengthened Open Method of Coordination.

SOLIDAR contributed to the workshop on combating poverty and social exclusion where the Social Progress Watch initiative and specific recommendations were presented to the participants on offering access and participation in lifelong learning as a tool to empower people to participate in society and labour market.
