

Van: Human Rights Watch <news@hrw.org>
Verzonden: donderdag 12 juni 2014 22:38
Aan: Nieuwsarchief
Onderwerp: ISIS Advance Threatens Iraq's Civilians

Having trouble viewing this email? Click here

THE WEEK IN RIGHTS

June 12, 2014

Donate Today

Follow us on:

---

ISIS Advance Threatens Iraq's Civilians

Photo credit by © 2014 Reuters

"I don't feel safe at all," one Mosul resident told Human Rights Watch. "I fear ISIS, they might kill me for any reason: because I worked as a government employee ... if they notice that I don't go to the mosque and pray as they want everyone to, [or] if my beard isn't long enough."

The Islamic State of Iraq and the Sham (ISIS) forces have taken over many areas of Iraq, including Mosul. Human Rights Watch has previously documented crimes committed by ISIS in other areas of Iraq and Syria, including car and suicide bomb attacks in civilian areas, summary executions, torture in detention, discrimination against women, and destruction of religious property. We have found that some of these acts may amount to crimes against humanity.

The possibility that ISIS will repeat the atrocities it has committed in other parts of Iraq, and impose the same intolerant and abusive rule as it has in Syria, is deeply troubling.

Read more >>

share on:

Congolese Warlord to Go to Trial

Three pre-trial judges at the International Criminal Court unanimously found substantial grounds to believe that Ntaganda committed war crimes and crimes against humanity including murder and attempted murder, attacks against the civilian population, rape and sexual slavery, pillaging, and persecution in northeastern Congo's Ituri district in 2002 and 2003.

See the Latest News in Africa >>

share on:

Thailand Should Stop Secret Military Detentions

The Thai junta's detentions are exacerbated by holding people in secret. Anyone held without being charged with a credible offense should be freed immediately.

See the Latest News in Asia >>

share on:

Dispatches: US Finally Addresses Climate Change

By Jane Cohen

It's easy to get depressed working on the nexus of human rights and the environment, as it always seems like things are getting worse. But after years of foot-dragging on climate change, the US has finally taken a first step to start becoming a leader on addressing the crisis – something it could have done sooner.

See the Latest News in the United States >>

share on:

Global Summit Spotlights Rape in War

A London Summit on Ending Sexual Violence in Conflict is currently underway. Governments should use the summit, ending tomorrow, to make strong public commitments to end impunity for sexual violence, assist survivors, and prevent further rapes.

Read more >>

share on:

VIDEO

TAKE ACTION!

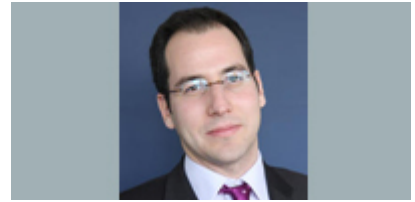

TWEET OF THE WEEK

Bosco Ntaganda - Wanted for War Crimes Watch Now >>

It's dangerous for children to work 12 hours a day in the sun and high heat while absorbing nicotine and pesticides. Tell tobacco companies to end child labor on US tobacco farms!
Take Action >>

Prospect of ISIS ruling big parts of Iraq terrifying. Real issue is to defeat them without brutal self-defeating tactics punishing civilians
Follow Nadim Houry >>

Thank you for supporting Human Rights Watch.

Donate Today

Follow us on:

Home | Take Action | Donate | Privacy

Human Rights Watch - 350 Fifth Avenue, 34th Floor New York, NY 10118 USA
Tel: 1-(212) 290-4700 | news@hrw.org

Remove yourself from this mailing.